Advancing a broader societal conversation about equity and inclusion, the charrette gathered together a diverse group of museum professionals, designers, and thought leaders to reimagine the museum's-built environment. Organized around three platforms: Civic Hubs, Belonging, and Inclusive Design, the participants explored how museum design practice can create more democratic, participatory and polyphonic spaces. In addition to museums, case studies included artist residencies and cultural districts to draw upon best practices. Included in this discussion on weather-related risk factors, you will learn basic concepts in risk management, standard operating procedures, disaster and evacuation planning, and how to determine probable maximum loss so that your collection is properly insured to protect against catastrophic events.

Sotheby's NFT's and the Art World

The growth of non-fungible tokens (NFTs) has been explosive. In the first half of 2021 alone, NFTs generated over $2.5 Billion in sales value. Just this October, Sotheby's, announced the launch of Sotheby's Metaverse, the first dedicated, full-service NFT marketplace to come from a 'traditional' auction house. As the year draws to a close and the NFT framework continues to grow, what can we expect from NFTs in 2022, and in the years ahead? What impact will the blockchain and more specifically smart contracts have on the future of the art market and cultural philanthropy. Join Nina Del Rio as she unpacks this year's market milestones and discusses the relevance of NFTs and the blockchain on the Museum landscape.
